Art

Description

The “Art” from the Truly Collection was already numbered when it was donated. We retained this inherited numbering system. It is expected that pieces from the art collection will be put on display at various places around the Regis University Denver campus. A spread sheet follows describing each piece.