The Dayton Memorial Library is a private facility committed to providing quality services and resources that support the educational needs and intellectual pursuits of the students, faculty, and staff of Regis University. Limited access and services are provided to visitors. The library upholds and expects respect for the rights of others as well as respect for the Library’s resources and facilities.

The Dayton Memorial Library will...

- Provide a safe, accessible, and welcoming environment with designated areas for group and silent study;
- Promote and foster a diverse and inclusive learning community;
- Protect privacy and confidentiality for users of library services and collections;
- Provide access to computers, printers, media equipment, and the internet;
- Collect and disseminate resources from diverse points of view to support study and research;
- Teach users how to effectively navigate resources and use them ethically;
- Provide access to resources beyond the collection to the best of our ability and at free or limited cost;
- Develop a responsive staff committed to helping users, taking individual needs into account;
- Seek user input and use feedback to help design and improve services;
- Promote our services effectively and ensure that changes are publicized clearly and promptly.

Users of the Dayton Memorial Library will...

- Treat all library users and staff with respect and courtesy;
- Comply with staff requests and directives;
- Conduct themselves in a manner that does not disrupt other library users or staff;
- Bring only registered service animals into the building;
- Dispose of all food and beverages properly and keep library areas clean;
- Follow the signs for noise level and cell phone use;
- Abide by the time and occupancy limits for small group study rooms;
- Protect RegisNET usernames/passwords and not log other individuals into library computers;
- Keep personal belongings and valuables with them at all times;
- Post flyers and other announcements only with appropriate approval and on the designated bulletin board;
- Abide by the Regis University Student Code of Conduct;
- Use Library technology resources in accordance with the Responsible Use of Technology Policy.

Campus Safety may be asked to assist library staff in monitoring compliance with these expectations.
