Dear Regis University Faculty, Staff, and Students,
All around us, there are wonderful and rich examples of students’ learning being displayed and discussed. Part of CETL’s role is to encourage us all to share our students’ learning so that we can discuss and explore ways to enhance that learning. Below, please find some (it is hard to find out about them all) of the opportunities that are coming up soon. Please consider going to see all of the great work of our students (and some of our faculty), discussing their learning, and finding out how distinct a Regis University education is! If you would like to have your students share with the broader Regis University community, please contact Dr. Ken Sagendorf at ksagendorf@regis.edu to have your course and students listed.
